OFFER

by

KRAFT FOODS INC. (“KRAFT FOODS”)

for

CADBURY PLC (“CADBURY”)

Kraft Foods Offer to Include Partial Cash Alternative Enabled by Net Proceeds from Sale of North American Pizza Business

This morning, Kraft Foods announced a definitive agreement to sell the assets of its North American pizza business to Nestlé for a total consideration of US$3.7 billion.

Following this news, Kraft Foods is now announcing it will use an amount equivalent to the full net proceeds from the sale (less taxes and deleveraging to maintain its investment grade credit rating) to fund a partial cash alternative (the “Partial Cash Alternative”) as part of its Offer for Cadbury plc.

Kraft Foods is doing this because of the desire expressed by some Cadbury Securityholders to have a greater proportion of the Offer in cash and because Kraft Foods Shareholders have expressed a desire for Kraft Foods to be more sparing in its use of undervalued Kraft Foods Shares as currency for the Offer.

Kraft Foods continues to believe that its share price is depressed as a consequence of a number of short term factors which it believes will dissipate once the uncertainty surrounding its Offer for Cadbury is resolved. Therefore, it will apply an amount equivalent to the net proceeds from the pizza sale, estimated to be 60 pence per Cadbury Share or 240 pence per Cadbury ADS, to fund a Partial Cash Alternative to its Offer to acquire Cadbury. Kraft Foods will announce the detailed terms of the Partial Cash Alternative on or before 19 January 2010 (being the last day for Kraft Foods to amend the terms of the Offer).

Cadbury Securityholders who accept the Offer and elect to receive the Partial Cash Alternative will be able to receive an additional 60 pence per Cadbury Share or an additional 240 pence per Cadbury ADS in cash in place of some of the New Kraft Foods Shares they would have otherwise been entitled to receive under the Offer.

The price at which Cadbury Securityholders will be able to substitute cash for New Kraft Foods Shares under this Partial Cash Alternative will be the market price, in pounds sterling at the then current exchange rate, of a Kraft Foods Share at the close of business on the day before Kraft Foods announces the detailed terms of the Partial Cash Alternative.

Until the detailed terms of the Partial Cash Alternative are announced, the Offer remains unchanged. Once the terms of the Partial Cash Alternative are set, its value may be more or less than that of the basic terms of the Offer depending on the prevailing market price of a Kraft Foods Share and the US dollar/pounds sterling exchange rate.

Cadbury Securityholders who believe they might want to receive the Partial Cash Alternative should wait for the publication and/or filing, as applicable, of the revised offer documentation. This documentation will be published and/or filed, as applicable, on or before 19 January 2010.

Lazard & Co., Limited, Centerview Partners UK LLP, Citigroup Global Markets Limited and Deutsche Bank AG, London Branch are satisfied that sufficient resources are available to Kraft Foods to satisfy in full the cash consideration payable as a result of full acceptance of the Offer (including payments made pursuant to the Partial Cash Alternative as described above).

Other than as expressly set out in this announcement, capitalised terms used in this announcement shall have the meaning given to them in the Offer Document.

Forward-looking statements

Certain statements contained or incorporated by reference in this announcement may constitute “forward-looking statements”. All statements in this announcement, other than those relating to historical information or current condition, are forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond the control of Kraft Foods, that could cause Kraft Foods’ actual results to differ materially from those indicated in any such statements. Such factors include, but are not limited to, continued volatility of input costs, pricing actions, increased competition, Kraft Foods’ ability to differentiate its products from retailer brands, unanticipated expenses in connection with litigation, settlement of legal disputes, regulatory investigations or enforcement actions, Kraft Foods’ indebtedness and ability to pay its indebtedness, the shift in consumer preference to lower priced products, risks from operating outside the US, tax law changes, failure to obtain necessary regulatory approvals or required financing or to satisfy any of the other Conditions of the Offer, adverse effects on the market price of Kraft Foods Shares and on Kraft Foods’ operating results because of a failure to complete the proposed acquisition, failure to realise the expected benefits of the proposed acquisition, significant transaction costs and/or unknown liabilities and general economic and business conditions that affect the Combined Group following the completion of the proposed acquisition. For more information on these and other factors that could affect Kraft Foods’ forward-looking statements, please also see the section entitled “Risk Factors” in the Prospectus or in the US Offer Document, as applicable, and the risk factors in Kraft Foods’ filings with the SEC, including Kraft Foods’ most recently filed annual report on Form 10-K and subsequent reports on Forms 10-Q and 8-K. Kraft Foods disclaims and does not undertake any obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement in this announcement except as required by applicable law or regulation.

Additional US-related information

Kraft Foods has filed the Registration Statement and tender offer documents with the SEC in connection with the Offer. Cadbury US Shareholders, Cadbury Canadian Shareholders and Cadbury ADS Holders, wherever located, should read those filings, and any other filings made by Kraft Foods with the SEC in connection with the Offer as they contain important information. Those documents, as well as Kraft Foods’ other public filings with the SEC may be obtained without charge at the SEC’s website at www.sec.gov and at Kraft Foods’ website at www.Kraftfoodscompany.com.

Q&A regarding December 18, 2009 Definitive Proxy Statement to KFT Shareholders

On December 18, 2009 we filed a definitive proxy statement, which we have also mailed to Kraft Foods shareholders. The proxy statement relates to our offer to acquire Cadbury plc. Since our mailing of the proxy statement, we've received a number of questions from our shareholders. That's understandable given the complexity of cross-border transactions and the numerous regulatory aspects these types of transactions entail.

To that end, we've developed this brief Q&A to answer our shareholders' questions.

1) Is the offer outlined in the proxy statement the final offer?

The proxy statement describes the offer that we announced on November 9, 2009. Under UK Takeover Panel rules, we have the right to change the offer until January 19, 2010 ("Day 46" under the UK Takeover Code. See question #6 below). We may or may not exercise that right. However, if we do exercise that right, we will file a supplement to the proxy statement so you will know what the terms of our offer are at the time you vote on the share issuance. Based on the current schedule, this would give you nearly two weeks before the special shareholder meeting on February 1, 2010.

2) Are you asking me to vote before I know the final terms of our offer?

No. You will have nearly two weeks before the polls close to consider the final terms of our offer. (See question #1 above). If there are new terms or other material information about the offer, you will receive a supplement to the proxy statement. All shareholders will have the information they need to make an informed vote. Further, shareholders can change their votes before the meeting. (See question #7 below).

3) Why did management request approval for up to 370 million shares?

That is the calculation of what we'd need to exchange with Cadbury shareholders if 100% of them tender their shares on the basis of our offer as announced on November 9, rounded up from approximately 366 million to 370 million.

4) Am I voting to give Kraft Foods the authority to issue more shares than the number indicated in the proxy statement?

No. Under the resolution in the proxy statement, we would be able to issue up to 370 million shares for the transaction but would not receive authority to issue a higher number or to use the shares for purposes other than the proxy statement describes.

5) Could the number of shares issued in the offer be less than what is listed in the proxy statement?

We have the right to change our offer until January 19, 2010. (See question #1 above). It is possible that we will issue fewer shares and in all cases we will only use the number of shares we need to complete the offer or any revised offer. This number might be less than what is requested in the proxy statement.

6) Does the extension you announced today change the overall timeline?

It extends the deadline for Cadbury shareholders to tender their shares from January 5, 2010 to February 2, 2010. Extensions are typical in the UK. The rest of the timeline remains the same and under normal circumstances will play out as follows:

- Day 39 (Jan 12) Last day for new information from Cadbury
- Day 42 (Jan 15) Last day for Cadbury's detailed estimated trading results for 2009
- Day 46 (Jan 19) Last day for Kraft Foods to improve our offer
- Day 59 (Feb 1) Date of special meeting of Kraft Foods shareholders
- Day 60 (Feb 2) Last day for fulfillment of acceptance condition and last day for Cadbury shareholders to tender in the initial offer period

However, while the process timeframe is fixed, there are some events that could change the way it actually plays out. For example, if another bidder put a formal offer on the table, then the 60-day time limit in which we have to complete our offer would be reset. Because of this, we can't predict with 100% certainty the exact timing for each of the subsequent deadlines.

7) By when do I have to vote?

Polls close at the meeting on February 1, 2010. However, given the complexity of this type of cross-border transaction, we sent you the proxy statement in mid-December so that you would have plenty of time to educate yourself on the terms of the offer, which is the context in which we'd be issuing and exchanging Kraft Foods shares.

To vote your shares, follow the instructions under Question 14 on page 4 of the proxy statement. The instructions describe the voting processes for registered shareholders and for shareholders who hold in street name. As a reminder, you can vote or change your vote by the deadlines set forth in the proxy statement.

8) If I vote before February 1 and the offer changes, can I change my vote?

Yes. You may change your vote by following the instructions under Question 18 on page 5 of the proxy statement.

RESPONSIBILITY STATEMENT

The directors of Kraft Foods accept responsibility for the information contained in this document, except that the only responsibility accepted by them in respect of the information contained in this document relating to the Cadbury group, which has been compiled from public sources, is to ensure that information is correctly and fairly reproduced and presented.
